Love him or hate him, this is Ajay Ahuja`s defining book on property.

A sometimes controversial figure in the property world, Ajay Ahuja has succeeded in making money. Through courage, motivation and foresight he started with almost nothing, rode the property boom, and has expanded his property business and continued to make money throughout the recession. In this easy-to-read and extremely informative book - his defining work – he shares his knowledge, wisdom and passion in his usual direct, no-nonsense style.

How to Make Money from Property provides authoritative, comprehensive and authentic advice on investing in property, whatever the state of the market.

With an entrepreneur`s head for business and a chartered accountant`s mind for figures, he guides readers through the various types of property business and helps them select what would be their best individual match. Having worked his way up from nothing, Ajay backs his advice with first hand experience that is inspiring and motivating for anyone wanting to start their own property business – full or part time - from scratch. He talks plainly about the way he downsized his lifestyle and suggests ways in which you, too, can cut costs in the short term to achieve the long term pleasure of high earning with minimal further effort. Commenting on his reasons for writing the book, Ajay says, “If you love property and are looking to get involved but do not know which angle to come in at, read every page of this book. Every type of property business worth getting into is in here. You have to evaluate what is right for you. I have presented you with each type of business and its merits and pitfalls but it is up to you to marry yourself with the right one. Pick the right business and nothing can stop you!” About the author: At the age of 27, Ajay Ahuja gave up a promising career as a chartered accountant to earn his living in property. Since then, he has ridden the property boom – and survived the property crash. He now owns 200 properties located all around the UK
